THE BRATS

A Novel of the Future
R CHETWYND-HAYES

'A nightmare face appeared in the hole; jutting brow, sunken eyes, a beak of a nose and a sloping chin. The immense ears bore an uncanny resemblance to death-flowers. Peter took a deep breath and squeezed the trigger. The face vanished. He listened to the chorus of yelling snarls for some while, then rose slowly ...' 191pp

THE VISITORS

CLIFFORD D SIMAK

It looked like a big black box – perhaps fifty feet high, two hundred long. And it had settled squarely on forestry student Jerry Conklin's car ... Within hours the press, the government, and the public knew something strange had happened and had to face the possibility that the black box was something from outer space. A machine? An intelligent being? No one knew. 7½ x 4½in / 282pp

SYZYGY

MICHAEL G CONEY

The planet Arcadia has six moons, describing erratic orbits. But once every fifty-two years the moons come together in a constellation that creates havoc on the planet's surface. The inhabitants of Arcadia are strangely affected by the unusual gravity pulls ... and few on the recently colonised planet can remember exactly what happened fifty-two years ago – and those who can are curiously reticent. 8½ x 5¼in / 167pp
