

The SCIENCE FICTION Book Club News

'Anyone who has read science fiction knows that Frederik Pohl is brilliant.' — Ben Bova

Frederik Pohl is one of the world's most successful sf authors. He started early, making his first sale (to Amazing Stories) at the age of seventeen and becoming a professional editor at the age of nineteen. Since then he's written, co-authored, and edited an astonishing stream of bestsellers from The Space Merchants (with Kornbluth) and the pioneering Star Science Fiction series to his latest Nebula and Hugo successes — Man Plus, Gateway, and Beyond The Blue Event Horizon.

FREDERIK POHL THE COOL WAR

'There are two ways to win a race... One is to beat your opponent by sheer force. The other is to trip him up.'

The rules of the Cool War are simple: trip your opponent in every way possible — and keep on doing it.

It's a secret war without an end. Nation is ostensibly at peace with nation, but the world is gradually falling apart at the seams. Disease, starvation, fuel shortages, crime, drugs — they are the new weapons of the future, controlled and manipulated by undercover combatants whose task is to create mayhem, without detection.

Like most people, the Reverend H Hornswell Hake had never heard of the Cool War. Until he found himself on an armed interstate bus convoy heading for Maryland — and a secret call-up into active service.

His first mission is something to do with schoolchildren and pet marmosets... but in the Cool War, nothing is as it seems.

The Cool War is a return to the sharp social satire with which Frederik Pohl first made his name. Deft, witty, pungent — it has all the humour, invention, and penetrating insight you'd expect from one of the world's greatest sf writers. 282pp
